SMS organizes one-day symposium on “The Role of Forthcoming Government in the Development of India”

VARANASI: School of Management Sciences, Varanasi witnessed a high profile congregation of elite thinkers in its one day symposium on the topic “The Role of Forthcoming Government in the Development of India”. Inaugurated by the Hon’ble Chief Guest, Shri R. K. Singh, Former Home Secretary, Govt. of India. On this occasion Prof. P. N. Singh, Professor, Sampurnanand Sanskrit University, Varanasi was also present.

Shri R. K. Singh addressed the gathering of students and told them that apart from being a student they all are the citizens of this country. They have a prominent role to play in nation building. Many a times it happens that due to lack of commitment towards our own duties and lack of information regarding the country, we stop us from being decisive and thus creating a situation of policy paralysis. The role of the forthcoming government for development of India is many fold. Prominent among them is drafting policies for development and ensuring that the benefit reaches to every corner of the country.

Addressing the students Prof. P. N. Singh said that students should ensure their active participation towards the social concerns of the country. It is only after performing our duties that we can analyze the performance of any government. Students should march forward to serve the country by becoming more conscious both personally and professionally.

Earlier the programme began with the lighting of the lamp by Hon’ble Chief Guest, Shri R. K. Singh, Former Home Secretary, Govt. of India and Guest of Honour Prof. P. N. Singh, Sampurnanand Sanskrit University, Varanasi. Welcoming the guest Prof. P. N. Jha, Director, SMS said that amongst the top academic institutions in Uttar Pradesh, SMS ranks high in terms of academic delivery system, value based education and placements. SMS through consistent efforts to reach excellence has within a decade positioned itself robustly at the national and international fora. The objective of SMS has always been to prepare students to meet the future challenges of society and country by inculcating and developing value sets, skills and competencies and attitude for fulfilling social responsibility. On this occasion a book was also inaugurated by the dignitaries.

On this occasion Dr. M. P. Singh, Executive Secretary, SMS felicitated the guests with the memento. Mr. Sandeep Singh, Associate Professor, SMS proposed the vote of thanks. The inaugural session was coordinated by Mrs. Pallavi Pathak, Sr. Lecturer, SMS. On this occasion Mr. Sanjay Gupta, Registrar, SMS and all the faculty members were also present.
